We are glad to know that Senator Beck bas introduced a bill in the Senate for the repeal of section 1,756 of the Revised Statutes, which contains the famous, or infamous, iron-clad oath passed in 1862. It serves no good purpose, and the sooner it is repealed the better.

How business is pushing its way into the South, says the New York Mail and Express, is shown by the fact that a watch factory was established at Atlanta a year ago, and has become one of the prosperous manufactories of the city, challenging competition with Waltham and Elgin. The fact is that Mason and Dixon's line has been wiped out so far es brains and enterprise are concerned.

The Rev. Henry Ward Beecher delivered a new lecture in Brooklyn Saturday evening. The subject was "The Moral Demands of Luxury, Beauty and Wealth." He denies that a religious and Christian life demands the negations of pleasure, and affirms that there are appetites and passions of the soul that must be satisfied. He has no sympathy with the notion that sorrow is nearer heaven than joy.

The Atlanta Exposition has done good in an unexpected direction. The "Industrial Review Publishing Company," with a capital stock of $60,000, with officers in Atlanta and New York, has been organized, and a petition signed by Henry W. Grady, M. P. Handy, C. R. Miller, J. W. Ryckman, E. Branard and W. R. Bach, has been presented to the Superior Court of Atlanta. With such well known journalists as Handy, Grady, and perhaps others, the new enterprise ought to

The story told of Miss Bates of Scituate. Mass., who died last Wednesday at the age of 88, is interesting. She and her cousin Abbic, still living at the age of 80, hid behind a rock on the beach in the year 1812, and with afe and drum sounded the roll call, thus frightening away and putting to flight several boat loads of troops who were about landing from a British man-of-war. A great advantage is certainly gained, however, in the increased facility for advanced education within the States, which is now second to none, so far as the means of affording a thorough education is concerned. While the Legislature is thus endeavoring to improve the means of classical and scientific instruction, we think it would be well for the State Board of Education to take some steps towards improving our Common School System. One way of doing this would be to discontinue the employment of that it will go out in a blaze of glory as it third grade teachers. We think that a course came. It has been a very successful exhibipass what is now called a first grade examination should be required of every teacher in a public school. It is true that first, second and third grades are only relative, and the objection to third grade teachers is caused by the very superficial examination that is now made by the officials in many of our Counties. The same end could be attained by raising the standard to such a point that the scholarship required of third grade teachers would-be as high as that which is now demanded of those receiving first grade certificates. Our financial prosperity as a State demands an economical expenditure of the public funds, and our intellectual progress is largely dependent upon the proper instruction employing the most efficient teachers.

Doings of the Legislature. On Saturday a most important bill, that will prove a perfect bombshell among the whiskey dealers, was introduced by Mr. Lartigue for the better control and regulation of the sale of intoxicating liquors. The purpose J. E. Beard. of the bill is to regulate the whiskey traffic and to raise a revenue for the State and counties and for educational purposes. It virtually places the liquor trade in the hands of the Government by entrusting to the municipal authorities of cities, towns and villages the power to appoint all retailers of liquor, who shall be bonded officers of the appointing municipality. It is contended that the revenue raised in this way would be sufficient to pay the interest of the State debt, and to largely reduce the rates of taxation in the different Counties. The Stock law came back from the Senate with amendments, causing a long debate on the question of concurring in the amendment extending the time for the Act to take effect in Chesterfield, Orangeburg, and a portion of Aiken counties until October next. The majority of the opponents of the bill were strongly in favor of concurrence, taking the ground that they had secured this extension of time after a hard fight in the Senate, and it was best to hold to the time than to let the bill go to a committee on confererence. Others were in favor of non-concurence in order that when the bill bility of this incident is not its least charm, was given to a committee of conference they might also get for their counties the same extension of time. A vote was finally reached The authorities of New York and other and all the amendments were concurred in and Northern cities are very much alarmed at the the bill ordered to be enrolled for ratification

[For the Watchman and Southron.] HOLIDAYS.

It is rather a strange fact, that Sumter has no regular Holidays. Even of Christmas day to year, whether it would be generally observed as a holiday, and all business suspended, or partially so, until a day or two before it came. The doubt about the matter prevented; in many instances, I have no doubt, the formation of plans and pleasure enjoyments which would otherwise have been made. Christmas however, has always been observed, so far

In every city in the United States, with whose customs I am acquainted, there are regular days set apart as holidays, whose approach needs no heralding nor formal notice, being given to the Town and Country, that the stores, shops, &c., would be closed. It is known far and wide that such will be the case as sure as the laws of the Medes and Persians, and provision is made for them accordingly. These days are Christmas day, New Year's day, 22nd of February, Easter Monday, in some places Whitsuntide Monday, the 4th coming so near Whitsuntide generally has der Agricultal Lien of W. J. McLeod, Agent, caused that day to be dropped in some places, though observed in others. The fact of our population being composed largely of persons of different religions, is generally cited as a reason for it, but this would not remain an obstacle if there was any unity of sentiment in regard to the matter. It is true that the Gentile portion of our community has no right to expect the Israelitish portion to respect their religious fast and feast days, except in so far as the larger portion of public sentiment might influence them, and vice versa on the Israelitish side of the question : but there is no earthly reason why the merchants and business men here should and agree upon regular holidays. They as the property of Alfred Davis, under an would all be brightened and rested by the relaxation afforded, and nobody would be the Alfred Davis. worse off. While our Israelite merchants and business men are active and persistent in their various stores and offices, yet they have always been generous, and appeared willing to unite in anything for the public wellfare or pleasure. Whether a member of their religion was directly benefitted or not, it seems hard, then, that all the holidays should be on one side of our community and none on the other. The Israelites, I believe, keep two days strictly, as fast days, during the year. These are their New Year and Day of Atonement, and their feast of Purim seems to be one of general meriment among them. Why not in order monize matters, select certain usual holidays, at convenient distances apart, interspersed they prefer to keep? In this way they will be sold as the property of Wm. M. CARPETS.

TO OUR PATRONS AND OTHERS WISHING CARPETS.

We have made arrangements with one of the largest wholesale and retail houses in New York, whereby we have the privilege of selling carpets from their immense stock, which is one of the largest and best selected in this country. We have just received a large assortment of samples from their choicest styles, ranging in 30 CENTS PER YARD to the highest grades. Ingrains of all descriptions and prices, Three Plys, Tapestry, Body Brussels and Moquetts can be had without going away from home to get them.

This Arrangement Gives All who wish a carpet, of any size, quality or price, the opportunity of stepping into our store, and selecting from our samples, JUST WHAT THEY WANT, and we order it direct from New York, CUT TO FIT YOUR ROOM, and made up if desired, and cheaper than you could buy it were you in New York yourself.

We have also secured THE EXCLUSINE USE OF THE FRANCIS CARPET EXHIBITOR. This wonderful piece of ingenuity is to exhibit our samples and is so arranged, that by placing a sample of the carpet in proper position, the pattern is multiplied a THOUSAND TIMES and made to appear as if MADE UP and nailed upon your floor, enabling you to see ust how your carpet will look. Thus relieved of carrying a stock, having no money invested—no remnants to take off profits—no unsaleable patterns left on hand as a permanent investment, we can afford to

WITHOUT EXTRA CHARGE and guarantee to suit you in style, quality and price, and furnish you the carpet in the short-send and get you any style you may select,

Do not wait till the day you want your carpet to put down, but leave your order a ittle before it is wanted, giving us time to get just what you want and somthing entirely different from your neighbors.
